Why do service prices change from service to service?

Every scheduled service is different and that means that the Capped Price of your scheduled service may vary from one service to the next. Individual parts and vehicle systems are affected differently, depending on the distance travelled, time in use and driving conditions. For some scheduled services, additional parts have to be inspected and/or replaced and a longer period of time is spent by our factory-trained technicians to complete the service. Your Subaru Service Advisor will explain what will be performed during each scheduled service and why, but rest assured that each of these standard scheduled services are covered by the Service Plan.

Why aren't all services the same?

Everyone's driving habits are different – from city start-stop driving to highway driving – and therefore so are the service requirements for your Subaru. Your service requirements may vary from the scheduled service intervals as set out in your vehicle's Warranty and Service Handbook. If any additional work is required over and above the standard scheduled service, your Service Advisor will of course seek your approval before any additional work is performed.

Why is regular servicing important?

It's not only the distance travelled that determines when you need to have your Subaru serviced. In fact, vehicles that are used for regular short, stop-start trips, such as city driving, are often more at risk of premature engine and battery wear as the engine may be working harder. Other fluids in your car, such as brake and transmission fluids, can also deteriorate over time. So to help preserve and maintain the Performance, Safety and Retained Value of your 2020 Subaru BRZ, make sure you follow the recommend service intervals, be it every 9 months or 15,000 kilometres, whichever comes first.

Why use Genuine Subaru Service?

When it comes to servicing your Subaru there are plenty of choices, but only one knows your Subaru inside out. It took some of the finest minds in Japan to build this incredible vehicle so don't just let anyone tinker with it. Entrust it to a Subaru trained professional.
